NON – DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT for All Confidential Opportunities:
In business transactions, confidence is of the utmost importance for many reasons, but especially to protect the value of the business or entity potentially for sale. Business sale transactions should remain confidential until negotiations are completed and a sale has closed, thus protecting the goodwill and overall value of the business or entity being sold.

Please understand that by signing this agreement, you agree to protect the confidence of this transaction and dissemination of information related to communication. Under no circumstances should you forward any information without written and express consent from the owner of this business or entity or me as the representative.

You understand that unauthorized disclosure of such information will open you up to legal liability and financial recourse.

You also understand that Seay Advisors and/or Seay Development and its agents and representatives will be held harmless if indeed your breach this legal document or are careless in the protection of such confidential information.

You should not share any information with anyone except your CPA, Attorney or Business Advisor and you will express that any information shared is to be held in the strictest confidence, without exception. Should your CPA, Attorney or Business Advisor require collaboration with another party, they will be required to also sign this agreement.

Any information that I forward to you is not authorized to be copied or duplicated in any form or fashion, nor shall it be saved on your hard drive or transmitted in any electronic fashion without written consent.

You will return any and all information immediately upon request.

You agree to contact me should you have any questions about whom you might share this information with prior to forwarding or sharing.

To expedite contact and communication, you are acknowledging that I am releasing confidential information for multiple opportunities. Please keep any information confidential unless one of my listings is considered publicly listed for sale in the Multiple Listing System and NOT referenced as Confidential.
